Applicant Rushnell Marshall explained that she is a travel concierge and some of her clients are interested in coming to Martha's Vineyard. She would arrange for their transportation to the island and to the location. There would be music with a band and there would be merchandise for sale.

Amy advised that approval would be required from the BoS for the amplified sound and that it was probably too late for this summer.

Commissioner Tony Lima asked if it was a commercial enterprise and the answer was yes. He said that residents are concerned about public areas being used for commercial interests.

Commissioners said no to the application.

They agreed to a cut-off date of March 1st for summer applications. They would also like to meet with the BoS to discuss summer events. They will also look at the fees and will be increasing them for 2022. There is no deadline for anyone withdrawing their application.

New Business

17 Wayland Avenue @ Washington Park

Jacqueline McGillicuddy contacted Amy about removing tree that is in front of 17 Wayland Avenue so they can access the property and remove the vehicle.

They agreed that the Tree Warden should look at it and they will have a site visit to see what can be cleaned up.

Jean Loud asked if she could plant lilies around the posts. Commissioners felt that there would be difficult to stop the workers to avoid cutting them.
